

I'm passionate about my business, but bookkeeping, taxes and accounting...
...not so much.

We will help you focus on your core business

Maybe you know the feeling— that somewhere along the line, your focus has been diverted from your core business because of other responsibilities including bookkeeping, taxes and other financial management responsibilities. Kirsch CPA Group will help you get back to working on your real passion—growing your business.

We help business owners get down to business.

Using technology we'll streamline your financial management. You concentrate on running and growing the business: we use technology to crunch the numbers and give you the information you need to make good decisions.

Real Time Information. Our BOSS system gives you secure apps and portals to push business data to us and get results in real time. You provide the basic input and we do the rest—bookkeeping, account reconciliation, and analyses for financial strategies, management and tax planning.

Boss is backed by our experienced team.

The people behind BOSS have the experience in financial management for professional practices—a Bookkeeper, CFO and Tax Advisor all in one. You will have the confidence to devote your full energy to your core business!

Discover what BOSS, our proprietary back office system, can do for you:

- Simplify your transactions – process vendor bills and expenses quickly
- Know your cash position – automatic bank reconciliations
- No Year End Surprises – complete tax planning and prep
- Informed Decision Making - detailed reports and analysis of trends

Kirsch makes running your business painless

Kirsch CPA Group is committed to providing the level of service that allows you to devote your energy and focus to what's most important—your business.

Don't let another monthly financial cycle close without speaking to us. We have the resources to get you back in the business you love.
